

Terms of Sale

By making an offer, requesting a price, acquiring, or negotiating to purchase any Domain Name whether it's listed on zDomains.Biz or Not, you agree to all terms below, in addition to all terms in zDomains.Biz's Terms and Conditions of Use and Privacy Policy.

Your purchase offer is for the domain name registration transfer only and does not include any website, software, hardware, hosting, or other services.

You are making your purchase offer in good faith with the intent of completing the transaction if your offer is accepted. The Domain Name is sold "as is" without warranty of any kind, expressed or implied.

You intend to purchase the requested domain name for your own use, in good faith and are not intending to use this Domain Name to infringe upon or cause conflict with the legal rights of any third parties. You represent and warrant that you are not asserting any trademark claims over that domain name and agree to keep any replies or counter-offers confidential. You agree that domain name was not registered nor used in bad faith.

If we receive multiple purchase offers for any domain name, we reserve the right to decide which purchase offer to accept at our sole discretion. Domain Name availability and price is subject to change without notice.

The sales transaction becomes binding only when an agreement is executed at an escrow service, or when a written contract is executed by both parties. Prior to starting the escrow transaction, we will perform a final verification to ensure there are no previous issues in selling the requested domain name. Prior to the domain transfer, we reserve the right to cancel a transaction for any reason, subject to a refund of any payments you have made.

You agree an account at a domain registrar may be created for you, on your behalf, for the purpose of transferring the domain to you. Once you have made full payment and the requested domain name has been transferred to you, you are the new owner of the Domain Name. As the new owner, you are responsible to pay annual renewal fees charged by your registrar to keep your domain registration current. Fees vary by registrar and you have a choice of domain registrars to transfer your domain.
